With the many providers of ELD solutions emerging, how can you emerge above the crowd and provide your customer assurances that your product truly meets FMCSA Standards?

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT?

This question is currently preoccupying the trucking industry and many carriers have voiced their concerns. Companies have been contacting PIT Group to obtain support. As a recognized expert in the US ELD regulation, PIT Group has been leading the development of the Canadian ELD mandate. This puts PIT Group in a position to understand the impact of these new rules on the industry.

The possibility of ELD suppliers to self-certify their product concerns the trucking Industry and the American Trucking Association stated clearly that they prefer seeing a 3rd party verification process established.

EXPERTISE

Since 2007, the trucking industry has come to PIT Group with a very similar concern: How can we be sure that the vendor claims whether they be aerodynamics or other technologies be as good as what the supplier claims? Similar question, similar answer!

Energotest became the industry standard to measure green technology performance. ELD suppliers can now rely on PIT Group to demonstrate that the verification process was thorough and 3rd party verified. Thanks to PIT Group verification process for ELDs.

The ELD certification process is complex. Noncompliance may lead to a quick and costly replacement of all units in the fleet or worst, to serious and onerous legal challenges for both carriers and ELD suppliers.

VERIFICATION PROGRAM

The PIT Group ELD verification program is a systematic process that monitors that tests were performed according to the FMCSA requirements. ELD suppliers that are successfully verified will obtain a certificate of compliance along with the authorization to refer to PIT Group as their third-party verification service on their marketing material.

Based on the same principles of accounting verification, the PIT Group ELD Verification will verify test results and process for all 8 elements required by FMCSA's ELD Test procedures.
